Emma Bentley is a professional medium, and she's the real deal: a kid-you-not, bona fide psychic. Not being up front about her abilities in the past has lost her the love of her life but now – and perhaps because of it – she's more determined than ever to be who she is and not pretend otherwise. There are people in her life who know her well and fully accept her abilities but they constitute a rare group of believers. Using her talents, Emma gives her all to help both clients and friends, although more often than not, this proves to be no easy feat. Unable to control the flow and content of visions and information reaching her through the ether, she generally has to piece things together to make a qualified guess, which at times can leave her barking up the wrong tree.

Documents, oral testimony, and ethnographic description all play a role in text-aided archaeology, which in some broad sense includes all archaeology. This volume explores the relationships among many of these sources and addresses how historical documentation is used in archaeology. Public and official archives; mission and church sources; business and company sources; scholarly institutions; letters, diaries, and private papers; literature; transient documents; local sources and opinions; and maps are among the categories of historical sources used in this collection.

The foundations of practice and the most recent discoveries in the intriguing new field of evolutionary psychology. Why is the mind designed the way it is? How does input from the environment interact with the mind to produce behavior? By taking aim at such questions, the science of evolutionary psychology has emerged as a vibrant new discipline producing groundbreaking insights. In The Handbook of Evolutionary Psychology, leading contributors discuss the foundations of the field as well as recent discoveries currently shaping this burgeoning area of psychology. Guided by an editorial board made up of such luminaries as Leda Cosmides, John Tooby, Don Symons, Steve Pinker, Martin Daly, Margo Wilson, and Helena Cronin, the text's chapters delve into a comprehensive range of topics, covering the full range of the discipline: Foundations of evolutionary psychology, Survival, Mating, Parenting and kinship, Group living, Interfaces with traditional disciplines of evolutionary psychology, and interfaces across disciplines. In addition to an in-depth survey of the theory and practice of evolutionary psychology, the text also features an enlightening discussion of this discipline in the context of the law, medicine, and culture. An Afterword by Richard Dawkins provides some final thoughts from the renowned writer and exponent of evolutionary theory. Designed to set the standard for handbooks in the field, The Handbook of Evolutionary Psychology is an indispensable reference tool for every evolutionary psychologist and student.
